

The Congressional Caucus on U.S.-Turkey Relations and Turkish Americans

The Congressional Caucus on Turkey and Turkish Americans was established in March 2001 by Congresspersons Robert Wexler (D-Florida), Ed Whitfield (R-Kentucky), and Kay Granger (R-Texas). The Turkey Caucus is a bipartisan platform through which Members of Congress focus on fostering U.S. -Turkey relations and show their support for issues of concern to Turkish Americans. Currently in the 112th Congress, membership stands at a record high of 134 members and continues to rise. The Honorable Co-Chairs of the Caucus are Rep. Ed Whitfield (R-Kentucky), Rep. Steve Cohen (D-Tennessee), Rep. Virginia Foxx (R-North Carolina), and Rep. Gerry Connolly (D-Virginia).
